45 Hungarian Athletes Shun Trip Back Home

Some Seeking Asylum In U.S.; Others Stay In Australian Cities

MELBOURNE (AP)—Forty-five members of the Hungarian Olympic team took asylum in Australia today rather than return to their Russian-occupied homeland.

About 34 intend to go to the United States. The others plan to settle here.

Their 130 teammates have headed back toward home, but there were signs at least 20 of these would drop off in Italy before their two chartered French airliners go on to Budapest.

Those who stayed behind include some of Hungary's most noted athletes. Among them are four-minute miler Laszlo Tabori, world champion ladies foil fencer Lidia Tomolky, and the entire water polo team, champion of the just-concluded 1956 Olympics.

The assistant chief of the Hungarian Olympic Committee and several noted coaches and managers also remained here.

Many of the athletes fought in the early days of the rebellion and proudly wore the emblem of the revolt on their breast pockets.

They departed for Australia at the end of October when it looked in Budapest as if the rebels had won their demands for an independent government.

ON NOV. 4, while the rebels were negotiating for withdrawal of Russian forces from their country, the Red Army struck back without warning to crush the anti-Communist revolution.

One team member said most of those going back to Hungary are doing so because they have wives and children there.

Among those returning was Laszlo Papp, winner of the boxing gold medal in three Olympics—1948, 1952 and 1956. His wife and 18-month-old son are in Budapest.

But, Papp said, "if conditions were right" he would like to tour the United States as a boxer.

Hungary finished fifth in the Olympics' unofficial point score totals with 220½ points.

Eighty-three of the Olympics party left by plane Friday and 45 departed today. Two others are returning by ship.

Tears flowed profusely at Eszterdom Airport. A small group of Hungarian refugees stood at attention and sang the national anthem "God Save Hungary."

Sandor Rosznyoi, holder of the world record for the 3,000 meters steeplechase, is one of those likely to drop off at Milan. He received a cable just before departure saying his wife and child are safe in Austria.

In that country halfway around the world, there was a possibility that others on the team would find their loved ones. Some 120,000 refugees have crossed the border into Austria in the last month.

Ex-General Given Boot By Probers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Retired Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, 64, was ejected bodily from a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities hearing here Friday when he stood up in the audience and accused the committee of "treason," "cowardice" and "subversion of the Constitution of the United States."

"Your actions are disgraceful," Chairman Doyle (D-Calif.) retorted. "You are a disgrace to the United States Army and to your country."

"Mr. Marshal, remove that man from the room," ordered Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio).

Holdridge was the 1956 vice-presidential nominee of the National Prohibition party.

Two attorneys were also ejected from the stormy hearing, which is being held to determine whether there is any Communist activity aimed at undermining the nation's security laws.

A. L. Wirin, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, was ordered from the room for exchanging remarks with committee counsel Richard Arens, and attorney Maynard J. Omerberg was ejected for laughing when Chairman Doyle commented on the desire of Congress to legislate intelligently.

Western Big 3 'Love Meet' Seen

NATO Parley In Paris Next Week Said Certain To Create Harmony

PARIS (AP)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, pushed into renewed cooperation by events in Hungary, next week open what may be their most dynamic meeting.

The session begins Tuesday, bringing together the ministers of foreign affairs, defense and finance of the 15 nations. It will provide the setting for the first meeting of British, French and American foreign ministers since the Suez campaign which threatened to split the organization.

But the three members, once so widely divided with France and Britain on one side and America on the other, have begun the healing process so actively that one highly placed figure in the organization predicted: "It will be the love match of the year. The lovers are going to confess their faults, kiss and make up probably more warmly than ever before."

For the last two years NATO has shown signs of pulling apart at the seams. Many members, calmed by the smiles of the Kremlin, wanted to cut their defense expenditures. Russian cannons and tanks in Budapest changed all that.

"MEMBERS who were reluctant before are now remembering how much security the Atlantic Pact gives them," a member representative said.

The biggest event is the expected meeting of Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. It has not definitely been decided when they will meet.

Dulles will carry with him the evident intention of assuring Western European leaders that the United States will do everything possible to help them surmount their current financial crisis.

HOW MUCH help can be given will depend largely on Congress, both branches of which are making intensive new studies of the foreign aid concept.

The council is scheduled to review the over-all Allied defense program against Soviet might and also to consider ways of increasing the cooperation of the NATO powers on international issues.

Attending the meeting with Dulles will be Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The trip will be Dulles' first diplomatic mission since he underwent a successful cancer operation early last month.

Dulles is described by associates as feeling it is of the utmost importance to rebuild solidarity of the Western alliance and restore to oil-short Europe the economic strength which is necessary to provide a sound basis for military strength.

For this reason he believes it is important that the United States help its European allies both to solve their economic problems and to carry the burden of armament which is their responsibility in the NATO system.

Escape Artist In Double Cell

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—A man who has escaped from Ohio authorities three times since last July—twice this week—was under double security here today.

Basil C. Hawkins, 26, was arrested at his father's two-room home near Shinnston, eight miles north of here, Friday night.

State troopers found Hawkins hiding behind a bed. He now is being held in a cell within a cell as a fugitive from justice.

He had previously escaped from Lima State Hospital, Columbus city jail and from Nelsonville police.

Soviet Shuns Joint Survey With U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia will conduct separate aerial photo-mapping operations in their sectors of the north polar region next year.

The Soviets Friday turned down an American proposal for a joint project which originally was suggested by Soviet scientists.

The joint project had been proposed as part of the International Geophysical Year, a worldwide scientific research effort aimed at finding out more about the earth and the air around it.

Jury Of 12 Fathers Orders Death For Baby's Kidnap

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—A jury of 12 fathers Friday night condemned Angelo LaMarca to death in the electric chair for the kidnap-murder of 32-day-old Peter Weinberger.

The jury found the swarthy auto mechanic guilty of kidnapping and first degree murder.

LaMarca's knees wobbled when he heard the verdict. Two court attendants grabbed him to keep him from sagging to the floor.

The defense built its case around a temporary insanity plea. It claimed LaMarca, 31, was a normal, hard-working husband and father until last spring when a burden of mounting debts drove him out of his mind.

In that unbalanced state LaMarca embarked on the kidnap plot, the defense said.

LaMarca tried but failed to collect a $2,000 ransom.

The defense asked mercy for LaMarca.

But Dist. Atty. Frank Glotta, the prosecutor, called LaMarca a scheming, cold-blooded criminal and demanded of the jury:

baby Peter when he was left in that woods... What mercy did he show then?"

The jury was out for six hours and 24 minutes before returning its verdict ending the month-old trial.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, parents of the tiny victim, were present in the Nassau County courtroom when the verdict was returned.

The defendant admitted taking the baby from the patio of the Weinbergers' Westbury, N. Y., home last July 4 and abandoning him a short while later in a Long Island honeysuckle thicket a few miles away.

Police found the child's body Aug. 24, the day after the FBI seized LaMarca.

LaMarca's brunette wife, Donna, 31, herself the mother of two children, collapsed after the verdict. LaMarca's mother, Vittina, 57, also collapsed.

The jury did not recommend mercy in finding LaMarca guilty. That automatically doomed him to the electric chair.

Polish Reds, Roman Church Reach Accord

Religious Education In State Schools Gets OK Under New Pact

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poland's new anti-Stalinist Communist government and the Roman Catholic church hierarchy today announced a broad settlement of their differences including a restoration of religious education in state schools.

A joint communique said the church expressed full support for all government activities aimed at strengthening the Polish People's Republic and uniting the energies of all citizens for the common good.

The agreement was worked out by a joint state-church commission established after the release of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, Oct. 28. He was kept under house arrest for three years. His release followed the elevation of Wladyslaw Gomulka to leadership in the Polish Communist party.

The joint commission worked for four weeks to settle the state-church dispute. The restoration of religious education was a top demand by the church for any agreement.

THE COMMISSION communique said the government wants to end all the hindrances to full freedom of religious life, adding:

"As a result of changes in public life aimed at establishing legality, justice, peaceful coexistence, the strengthening of social morality and the restitution of wrongs," the Catholic episcopate will extend to the government the church's "full understanding for these aspirations."

The announcement listed these main points in the state-church agreement:

1. Restoration of religious education to grade and high schools for children whose parents request it.

2. Permission for chaplains to work in hospitals and prisons.

3. Establishment of a government commission to arrange for the return of exiled priests and nuns to the western territories which Poland took over from Germany after World War II.

4. Recognition by the church that the state has a theoretical voice in church appointments. It was understood, though not written in the agreement, that the government promised not to veto appointments in the church.

Future appointments of clergy will be subject to a law to be drafted jointly by church and state. It will replace a government decree vetoing the appointment of bishops and excluding priests from their parishes.

Lioness Mauls 11-Year-Old Boy

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP)—A 300-pound lioness broke out of its cage in front of an auto agency and mauled an 11-year-old boy.

Erlan Trenholm was treated in a hospital Friday for a severely bitten knee, gashed hip and lacerations.

The 3-year-old lioness, being used in a promotion stunt, clamped its jaws on the youngster's knee when he walked too close to the wire cage.

Still clutching Erlan, the lioness broke out of its wire cage. The boy's father, Elwood Trenholm of nearby Wilmington, joined a bystander and the lion's owner in beating the animal until it released Erlan, deputies said.

Flemming Returning To Ohio Wesleyan

DELAWARE (AP)—Dr. Frank J. Prout, acting president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says Dr. Arthur S. Flemming plans to resign his post as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization and resume the university presidency by Feb. 1.

Dr. Prout, acting president since May, 1955, said "we have hopes that Dr. Flemming may be here by Jan. 1. Nothing short of mobilization will cause Dr. Flemming to change his plans to return."

Young Prof To Be Boss Of Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—A quick-minded 37-year-old professor is to be the new president of Princeton University—the third youngest in the school's 210-year history.

He is Robert F. Goheen, Indian-born father of six, who was named Friday to succeed Dr. Harold W. Dodds when he retires next June at age 67.

The surprise choice of the assistant classics professor from Princeton's own ranks came after a year and a half of canvassing possible presidents among the nation's outstanding educators.

Harold W. Helm, chairman of the executive committee of the board of trustees, said in announcing Goheen's appointment Friday that the board was unanimously for him.

Goheen will be Princeton's youngest president since 1759 when Samuel en Davies, 36, was named to head the institution. He also is only the third president who was not a minister. The others were Dodds and Woodrow Wilson.

The new president was born in India as the son of distinguished American medical missionaries. After coming to this country at 15, he entered Princeton and earned Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Philippines Win U.N. Council Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Philippines won a first ballot victory Friday over Czechoslovakia for a one-year term on the U.N. Security Council.

The vote in the 79-national General Assembly was 51 for the Philippines, 20 for Czechoslovakia, Afghanistan 1, Spain 1 and Yugoslavia 1.

The Philippines had just one vote more than the two-thirds required since only 74 affirmative votes were cast.

Bid By Ike For Foreign Aid May Bring Debate On Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A full-fledged congressional debate on the Eisenhower Administration's conduct of U. S. foreign policy loomed as a possibility today.

Sources close to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who asked not to be quoted by name, said they feel certain any request for large scale economic aid in Europe would set off such a debate.

Only Friday, the administration announced that it was borrowing $1 billion on short term bills this month to raise cash which, among other things, may be used to grant Britain a loan.

Very little of the billion would go to Britain directly. Most of it would go through the International Monetary Fund in the form of a dollar loan against British assets. It would not involve aid in the usual sense of giving away money or goods.

So far there has been no discussion of the U. S. aid problem with congressional leaders, but leaders probably will be called in to White House conferences Dec. 31 and Jan. 1, for a review of the problem and administration thinking about the solution. At present the United States is providing military assistance but no economic aid to Europe.

The idea of expanding aid to Europe under the circumstances may get some support from a report of the House committee.

In its present highly tentative form, the report is understood to emphasize the importance of the Atlantic alliance as a deterrent to warlike moves by Russia.

In August, Ga., President Eisenhower arranged a conference to day on top secret spending plans for the Atomic Energy Commission in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The President called in the AEC chairman, Lewis L. Strauss, to discuss the prospective outlay for both nuclear weapons development and the program for peacetime use of atomic energy. On hand in addition to Strauss was Budget Director Percival Brundage.

Brundage sat in Friday at a 2½ hour Eisenhower meeting with Secretary of Defense Wilson on Pentagon spending proposals for the next fiscal year.

After that conference, Wilson said "it certainly looks" as though defense expenditures in the new year will be greater than the $36 billion estimated for this year.

Lima To Receive Added Air Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday granted Lake Central Airlines authority to extend its service from Lima, Ohio to Detroit, with a stop at Toledo.

The board, which turned down a similar application by North Central Airlines, specified the grant will last for three years or until 60 days after a decision in the pending Great Lakes air service investigation, whichever comes first.

The CTA said investigation indicated the Cullen failed to cut the power as his train switched from overhead trolley to the third rail. This reportedly created an electrical arc which set the lead car afire.

The fire, described by one passenger as being like flames "shooting from a flame-thrower," occurred as the train approached the Howard Street Station on the city's north limit.

Some of the passengers broke windows with their hands and legs. Some plunged from windows to the rocky right of way. Many were crushed as they sought to flee the blazing lead car.

Church Destroyed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A roaring fire destroyed the stately 44-year-old St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church here today. Damage was estimated at more than $2 million.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A full-fledged congressional debate on the Eisenhower Administration's conduct of U. S. foreign policy loomed as a possibility today.

Sources close to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who asked not to be quoted by name, said they feel certain any request for large scale economic aid in Europe would set off such a debate.

Farm Props Cost $100 Million Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm price support operations cost the government more than $100 million a month for the four months ended Oct. 31.

The Agriculture Department put the figure Friday at $426,245,685, compared with a net loss of $240,514,022 for the same period of 1955. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, the loss was computed at $974,767,365.

Surprise! U.S. Shows A Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the record, the United States ended the fiscal year last June 30 with a surplus of $1,625,553,403.69.

The Treasury Department announced the final figure Friday after taking into account belated reports of receipts and expenditures. The total was nearly $130 million below that estimated last July, when the figure was put at $1,754,000,000.

Hit-Run War Being Waged In Mountains

1,500 Said In Force Harassing Russians Near Yugoslav Border

BUDAPEST (AP)—Bands of rebel guerrillas are waging hit-run warfare on Russian troops from mountain hideouts in southern Hungary.

There have been numerous reports of continued fighting around the mining center of Pecs, but until now they were impossible to confirm. Communication with Pecs is cut off.

Today an unimpeachable Hungarian source disclosed that at least 1,500 rebels are harassing the Soviet occupation forces from the Mecsek Mountains, near Pecs and not far from the Yugoslav frontier.

But the informant said he believed the Mecsek rebel forces were the last still holding out.

This indicated the Russians have succeeded in wiping out some 2,000 college students that had been waging guerrilla raids from the Satoraljhal region, north of Miskolc, until at least 10 days ago.

"IT IS TRUE that the revolutionaries in Pecs killed the Russian commandant about two weeks ago," the Hungarian informant said. "This is true although our Budapest newspapers and radio were forced to deny it."

"The Russians can't wipe out these freedom fighters because they can't find them."

"They hide in the forests and they are supported by a rebellious local population. Around Pecs, the Russians are getting a taste of the same kind of partisan warfare they waged against the Germans in World War II."

There was an air of tension in Budapest. The government ignored a demand by the capital's Central Workers Council to quit jailing workers' leaders or face another outburst of violence.

The council had accused the puppet regime of dragging officers and members of councils from their homes "without investigation," and warned that if this continues "the end will be a general strike, bloodshed and a new national tragedy."

There were more strikes and street fights Friday. The strikes disrupted work in factories.

Yugoslavia meanwhile called its ambassador home from Budapest amidst signs that relations with the current Hungarian regime are growing more chilly.

There was no hint, however, of a breakoff of diplomatic relations. President Tito's government is irate because former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy was arrested and apparently deported after leaving the sanctuary of the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"TRAMP SCHOONER"

I sure hope that my Grandpa Tooten doesn't see this Doodle because he was always dead set against drinking. I can remember when I was back home in W. Va., how he used to put signs all over the house that said, "Whiskey Is Risky" and "The Only Thing You Have To Fear Is Beer Itself!" "Alcohol Will Make You Sprawl." I'll admit the slogans weren't very Madison Avenueish but they worked fine because not one single member of my family ever touched a drop of the stuff. Except, of course, my Uncle Frank, but he could be excused for his drinking because there was a logical explanation for it. Unfortunately, we never found out what it was because he was always too ossified to tell us.

Police Head Reminds Motorists Night-Time Means Extra Caution

"Night doubles traffic troubles. So step up your alertness at dusk." In those words Circleville Police Chief Merriman today spotlighted one of the major traffic dangers faced by walkers and drivers this month.

Expressing appreciation to the Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee, which is cooperating in sponsoring the current holiday hazards program, Merriman stressed the necessity for increased caution and decreased speed after dark.

"When driving at night a motorist can't see an object until it comes within range of his headlights," Merriman said. "It's obvious that if he's driving at a speed that won't permit him to stop within that distance, he'll hit the object. Reduced speed is a must for night driving."

HOWEVER, lowered speed is not the whole solution either, Merriman said. In order to see danger quickly and act immediately to avoid it, the driver must step up his alertness.

Merriman pointed out that the walker is similarly handicapped at night. But the pedestrian has the advantage of being able to see a vehicle's headlights long before its driver can see him, so the main responsibility for his safety rests with him.

Merriman advised pedestrians to wear something made of white or reflected material when walking at night.

ing at night. Carrying a flashlight, or even a newspaper, helps drivers spot them sooner, he said.

"Now, when Christmas shoppers are likely to be about after dark and Christmas parties are in full swing, the night driving and walking picture becomes more complicated," Merriman said.

"Often it's further complicated by rain, snow, sleet or ice. Drivers and walkers have their wits about them every second, if they want to stay safe under such conditions."

'Drunk' Drivers And Speeders In City Court

Motorists accused of driving when intoxicated headed today's roundup of cases heard in Circleville Municipal Court. Two others were fined for speeding.

One of the accused "drunk" drivers, Robert Gitten, 69, Mt. Sterling, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months. The accused man, arrested in October by the sheriff's department, had entered a plea of innocent. However, he changed the plea to guilty yesterday.

The other motorist accused of driving when intoxicated, Merrill F. Conrad, 48, Danville, was given the usual fine of $100 and costs, a three day jail sentence and a six month driving license suspension. He was arrested by city police.

Motorists arrested by the state patrol were as follows: Clifford Greenlee, 18, Circleville $20 and costs for speeding at 70 in a 50 mile zone.

Charles Epley, 23, Circleville; $10 and costs for speeding at 70.

U.S. Designer Tours World To Study Feminine Figure

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor A beautiful bosom is admired in all languages, says Pauline Gordon, New York designer of fashionable underpinnings, who has just returned from a trip around the world, during which she made scientific observations on the figure of women of all nationalities.

Mrs. Gordon is a small, pert, curvaceous grandmother, born and reared in St. Louis, Mo., who has been conducting a 25-year research in ways and means of improving the female form. She returned from her globe-circling jaunt impressed by the current figure-consciousness of women in every corner of the earth, from Paris to Hong Kong. Says she: "I came home convinced that American women have the most beautiful figures in the world — but of course, that's a matter of taste. The Frenchman admires the full-bosomed, hippy look of the average French woman above all others. Italians consider that the bigger the bosom the more beautiful the woman. In India, women have slender, erect, figures with firm bosoms and a majestic carriage. Chinese men consider the slender, almost boyish figure of the Chinese woman, with her small, high breasts, as an ideal of beauty.

"Here in America the beautiful bosom also is a standard of beauty, but for 100 per cent rating it must be accompanied by the slender, long-legged look of the typical glamor girl. "American women look healthier, more alive, more active than the women of other countries. We grow them taller, with longer, prettier legs. That's a logical result of our high standard of living, but of course, that's a matter of taste. The Frenchman admires the full-bosomed, hippy look of the

Deputies Report Arrest By Pair Clears Up Deercreek Burglary

A burglary at the Deercreek Auto Parts firm, near Williamsport, committed about 10 days ago, was reported solved last night when two Washington C. H. teenagers were picked up by Franklin County Sheriff's deputies near Harrisburg.

The two accused burglars were apprehended when alert Franklin County deputies spotted a car loitering near the Pickaway-Franklin line, approximately 20 miles northwest of here. The men were identified as Virgil Lincoln Boggs and Ephraim Alltop Jr., both 19.

According to the Franklin County Sheriff's department, Boggs and Alltop admitted breaking into the auto parts store. They also reportedly admitted to breakins in Highland, Fayette and Jackson counties, committed the same night.

At the auto parts store burglary, the two teenagers made off with a cash register which contained about $85, deputies said. The register was found last Saturday along Route 104 near Yellowbud by state patrolmen from the Chillicothe post.

THE Washington C. H. youths allegedly told deputies they had just

N&W Engineer Collapses, Dies

Apparently stricken with a heart attack, a Columbus locomotive engineer collapsed in his cab here late yesterday and was dead on arrival at Berger Hospital.

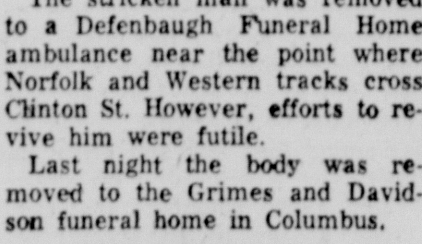

The engineer, Thomas Gray, about 50, was sitting in the fireman's seat when he suddenly became ill. The fireman, driving the locomotive at the time in accord with customary training routine, immediately stopped the Norfolk and Western freight and summoned help.

The train was en route to Columbus from Portsmouth at the time and had stopped in the Circleville yards for switching operations.

The stricken man was removed to a Defenbaugh Funeral Home ambulance near the point where Norfolk and Western tracks cross Clinton St. However, efforts to revive him were futile.

Last night the body was removed to the Grimes and Davidson funeral home in Columbus.

Bible Prophecy Sermon Topic At Church Of Christ

During the month of December, the public is invited to attend the Church of Christ in Christian Union, E. Ohio St., to hear a series of Sunday evening sermons concerning Bible prophecy. The sermons will be delivered by the pastor, The Rev. Richard G. Humble.

The series will develop the fact that the Bible is a book of the Divine Revelation of God for people of all ages, races, and nationalities. These sermons will point out that Bible prophecy has two main divisions, both centering about the advent of Christ to the earth.

The first will cover Old Testament prophecies of Christ's first advent when He came as "the Babe of Bethlehem" and "the Saviour of the world".

The second division concerns all scriptures in both the Old and New Testaments which speak of our Lord's second coming to this world when He shall come to rapture the church and to reveal Himself to all mankind as the "King of Kings".

The Bible, with many scripture references noted, will be closely followed in these December messages. Several outstanding events of the last decade will be viewed in the light of Bible prophecy.

Each of these special services will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be conducted every Sunday except December 23. Youth of the church will present a Christmas pageant entitled, "Carol Finds Christmas" on this date.

Sunday Services Announced For Methodist Church

Dr. Berry will be here to make suggestions as to what St. Philip's Church might do in helping resettled refugees from behind the Iron Curtain. Because of the nature of his address, all members of the parish family who are interested in this problem are asked to attend the meeting, whether or not they are regularly attending members of the organization.

Dr. Berry's address will open the meeting, so those who wish to leave before the business meeting may do so.

WHEN I GROW UP...

Magical words these, "when I grow up"—full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a flier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

STAMP-LICKING TIME
IT'S SELF-DECEPTION to assume that the mere purchase of Christmas cards is like the purchase of gifts in getting a task over and done with. Gifts the stores will wrap for those willing to hover around the wrapping-up girl long enough. Christmas cards must be processed in the do-it-yourself manner.

If your cards don't have your name and your wife's printed on them, you have to wield a pen, and if you never use a pen except occasionally to sign your name, that job can cripple the digits for fair. Meanwhile constant decisions have to be made.

The Joneses, now, from whom no card was received last Christmas. . . shall they be retained on the list? Then the Smiths, who never sent a card before but have sent one this time. Shall they be added to the list? If so, and they get one back by return mail, will their pleasure be tempered a bit by knowing their card served as the reminder?

Finally there comes more penmanship—the addressing after checking addresses in the phone book and on odd scraps of paper filed away somewhere.

Finally, did we say? Not by a long shot. The sticking point has yet to come—for all those gummed flaps and stamps. Can you truthfully say you are always prepared with a small wet sponge handy in a dish, let alone one of those patent moisteners that wet a revolving wheel?

Or do you go looking for a sponge, saying, "Dear, just suppose you start licking"—and hope most of the job will be done by the time you get back?

TIME ON OUR SIDE
THOSE WHO ASSERT that the United States has suffered its major diplomatic defeat of all time in the Middle East base their conclusions on the supposition that Russia has made great strides toward winning over the Asian-Arab world.

The Arabs, convinced that Russia's tough stand stopped the advance of the Anglo-French and Israeli armies, now see the Soviet Union as opposing "imperialist aggression." Communist influence could now extend into Africa as well.

But there are credit balances on the other side of the ledger for the U. S.

Washington sponsored the cease-fire and the UN police force. Though the Arabs may not see great benefit to them in these moves now, they will do so in time—especially if they deal with the champion imperialists of all time, the Russians.

Another U. S. credit is the mass discontent in East Europe. Soviet brutality in suppressing rebellion gives the U. S. renewed opportunity to point out the brutal character of the reds.

Our moral position in the entire world situation may work slowly in loosening Russia's grip. But time is on our side as the deluded little nations now seemingly gravitating to Moscow learn their lesson.

OIL FOR EUROPE

CLOSING OF THE Suez Canal, the oil pipeline for Europe, was little short of a catastrophic disaster to the British Isles and the Continent, the full extent of which is only now being understood on this side of the Atlantic. Without oil Europe's economy would grind to a halt.

Fortunately, there are ample oil resources on the North American continent, but shipping presents something of a problem. It will be surmounted, however. Fuel oil and gasoline rationing have already been ordered in France and Britain, and a fleet of tankers is being readied to step up shipments of oil from U. S. ports.

Washington officials insist no rationing of fuel oil or gasoline is contemplated in the U. S., unless conditions in the Middle East worsen. And there seems to be no real reason for more than token increases in prices. There has been a surplus of petroleum in the U. S., with well production cut back in some states.

It is a routine phenomena of economics, of course, that any unusual demand on a commodity pushes the price up. This can be the result regardless of the existence of ample supply. The other side of the coin is that a price rise without solid economic basis tends to be reversed to normal.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

When taxes consume a large part of everybody's income and when the cost of living rises steadily, certain elements in the community find themselves earning less and less in the purchasing power of their take-home pay. Some industrial contracts include escalator clauses which protect the purchasing power of the wage; such escalator "cost-of-living" clauses rarely appear in the salary scales of professionals.

However, those who have fixed incomes of any form, find that the value of their income is constantly being reduced. The same is true of white-collar workers, as they are called, who live on fixed salaries, sometimes determined by statutes which limit pay not by a measure of the cost of living for the particular type of employee but by the will of a legislative body.

With regard to teachers, I have received many letters objecting to any arithmetic which indicates that a teacher is paid for 52 weeks work. Some say that a teacher works only 40 weeks a year but is paid for 52 weeks.

It is to be hoped that the critics are wrong. A teacher, whether in the kindergarten or a university, not only teaches but has to learn. A teacher who stops learning has nothing to teach; he or she becomes empty-headed and useless. It must therefore be assumed that a teacher's salary also includes continuing learning time.

Let me cite an example: a teacher of physics, during the past decade, has had to do a lot of study on the subject of atomic fission so that he knows what he is talking about in the classroom and if the students ask questions. This requires an enormous amount of technical reading which cannot be done as one watches a movie show. It is necessarily slow and laborious.

1957 is called the Geophysical Year. Many important scientific developments are being brought into the news about which students in high schools and colleges ought to know more than is casually reported in the press.

A professor of physics, geology, geophysics, astrophysics, astronomy, etc., has needed to prepare himself for this special year. He might have used a Summer or a sabbatical year to travel to some other country or to serve on a team doing some special task, or attending lectures or seminars. Often there is no additional pay for the time put into intellectual tasks, and yet without special work, the teacher stagnates.

I have twice listened to President Theodore Hesburgh of Notre Dame speak about the need for increasing faculty salaries. It is not that learned men have become more mercenary in the present era than they used to be in another age, but that the cost of living, the cost of taxes, the cost of books and magazines, the cost of educating children—all these have gone up for the learned man as well as for the man who is not learned.

As a matter of fact, the truck driver, who may have been a college football player or who may never have been to college, may find that his wages and fringe benefits bring him more for his family than a professor who knows how to build an atomic reactor.

I have before me a table of salaries for university teachers in California who have had seven years of college education and hold a Ph.D. This could have cost the teacher's family more than $10,000, depending upon the colleges attended and the cost of living in those colleges. The annual salaries for these seven-year trained Ph.D.'s, ranging from instructor from professor, run from a low of $4,512 a year to a high of $9,384 a year before taxes. Deduct taxes and the pay is still less.

A bit player in Hollywood would reject such a salary; a strip-teaser would laugh if offered such pay. But we entrust the intellectual development of our next generations to men who have to dress like gentlemen and who have to maintain a position in the community but whom we pay so little that they must be concerned about how to make ends meet.

When the intellectual leaders of the community are driven down to the proletariat, the danger is that their conscious or subconscious worries and dissatisfactions are bound to be passed on to the students. And that needs to be thought out.

A father loses his doubts about how good a job the schools are doing after daughter asks "What river is Augusta, Maine, on?" and when he hems and haws proceeds to name all the rivers of the state.

The U. S. government has borrowed money at the highest rate of interest since 1933. Presumably it will be harder for Uncle Sam to go further into debt.

STORYLINE
Casson Duke, a self-made amateur detective, is intrigued when Henry Lockyer, a stock broker, tells him he had been blackmailed by an ordinary looking little man named Bagot who threatened to ruin his reputation. Bagot promises not to bother him again. One thing distinguishes the insignificant Bagot: He paused to admire a piece of Roman sculpture in Lockyer's house. Casson thinks this interest may trap him. Casson goes to his friend, George Strutt, a police superintendent, for help. Strutt becomes interested in the case. Later, Casson meets another friend, Nigel Willington, an antique dealer, and asks him to check his sales records of Roman sculpture for possible leads. Meanwhile, Strutt has dug up a similar case from the police files—the Greenhaugh case, in which the blackmailer called himself Martin. On a visit to Willington's, Casson sees a man answering Bagot's description buy two bronze statues. He follows him to his home in Bickerseth Street, and rents a room across the street. He discovers that the suspect is the Sheriff Arms, a local tavern. The bartender tells Casson that the man's name is John Perry.

CHAPTER 10
CASSON had just sat down to write his story of the Bagot case from the night of his meeting with the drunk Lockyer up to his own first print in the Sheepskin Arms when the door of No. 51 reopened and Perry emerged. Casson, taken by surprise, dived for the camera but he was too late. Casson stood there, looking at his wristwatch, giving Perry a minute and a quarter to get most of the way down the street. Then he slipped downstairs and followed.

To Casson, the pattern had altered drastically. Never had he heard of Bagot or Martin being clothed in anything but the same nondescript brown suit that Perry habitually wore. Now he was in a black city coat and striped trousers. He carried a neatly rolled umbrella and wore a bowler hat. He looked like a clerk on his way to the office in Moorgate. But why at half-past eleven in the morning?

Casson followed him to Ravenscourt Park Station and, choosing the carriage behind him, boarded an eastbound train. Perry might be going to his lawyer's, or to some respectable office from which he had retired and to which he returned two days a week in order to keep himself busy. Indeed, the only things against him, the only two threads which linked him to the shadowy Bagot and the still more remote Martin of Hatfield, were his personal appearance and his purchase of antiquities.

They changed trains at South Kensington and Perry took the eastbound Circle train. Casson followed him. The young man was tall, well built, and had fair hair. He had a pleasant, unassuming face and seemed to be no companion for a blackmailer. But, from his experienced appearance, Casson distrusted the appearance. During the investigation of the "Witch" one of the nicest old women in the village had displayed a startling aptitude for cruelty. After half-an-hour the young man looked at his watch, finished his Guinness, and he and Perry left the bar. They walked down Threadneedle Street to the Bank, shook hands, and parted. Perry turning towards the Underground station and the young man continuing westwards.

Without hesitation Casson followed the young man. He wished to trace every tangle of Perry's outdoor life. In Poultry the young man turned into a large building. As Casson stroiled past he saw that it was Gamman's Bank. Ecco! And Lockyer was a director of Gamman's. The coincidences mounted into the region of inevitability. Casson's excitement grew. He gave the young man ten minutes, during which time he could have washed his hands and returned to his post in the Bank. Then he went in, walked up the long hall, and asked a question about currency exchange. While he was waiting for the reply he looked along the counter. As the far end, obviously in the junior position, was the fair hair and pleasant face, Casson waited. The answer came back: 950 francs to the pound sterling, 1,680 lire. Casson thanked the teller and strolled out, glancing as he went at the silver-and-black name-plate before the young man's place. Mr. Macfarlane, it stated. The fair head never looked at him as he passed through the tall swinging doors.

From a call-box Casson telephoned Strutt. The fat Superintendent sounded irritable. "Have you got him?" he said. "Oh, no," Casson replied. "I'm just amusing myself." "Well, I'm not," snapped back the voice. "And I will tell you why. Kent is playing Middlesex tomorrow afternoon and I was going to watch. Now I'm not. And I'm not because some blasted burglar called Soap-fingers or Twinkle-toes or some idiot name has pinched a mink coat from some idiot actress and I've got to find him. See?"

"In this weather," Casson observed, "a burglar in a fur coat will look obvious. You should find it easy to catch him. Do you know anything about a Mr. John Perry of 51, Bickerseth Street, W.6?" "Strutt's voice altered. "Is that Bagot?" "I don't think so," Casson replied evenly. "But it may be a clue."

"Clue!" snorted the Superintendent. "Clue! You sound like the gutter press. Why don't you find me a decent fingerprint and then bring me the finger that made it? All right, I'll ring you back." "I'd rather you sent a note to my flat," said Casson. He had no desire to let Strutt know where he was spending his days. If Strutt knew that, he would horn in on the game too soon. "All right. All right. What about two tickets for the first Test Match?" "Certainly not," said Casson, who could get them easily. "You should be spending your time guarding honest citizens." He rang off.

In tomorrow's exciting chapter, Perry again resumes his Bagot role.

DIET AND HEALTH Examination Of Heart A Painless Procedure

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.
DON'T be afraid to have a heart examination.

Many of you, I'm sure, have thought seriously about having a doctor check the old ticker, but have put it off because of fear. Nothing To Fear

A heart examination is completely painless. There's no mystery about it; there's nothing to fear. Let's take a peek into a physician's office and see what a heart examination is really like.

As a rule, the doctor will first ask you about past illnesses and symptoms. He especially wants to know whether you have pain in the middle of your chest, a pounding of the heart, a swelling of ankles, shortness of breath.

He'll want to know your age, your general physical condition and the way you live. Give him truthful answers.

Checks Pulse
Then he'll probably take your pulse to determine how well your heart is pumping blood through the arteries. He'll check your blood pressure, too. High blood pressure, remember, may or may not be important, depending upon how it affects the heart, arteries, kidneys and other parts of your body.

By tapping on your chest the doctor will determine the size of your heart. Then he'll listen with his stethoscope to the actual operation of this most important of all organs. The doctor also will check the condition of your lungs, kidneys and liver since often these are affected by diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

By peering into your eyes with the aid of a bright light, the doctor may be able to discover certain important changes in the circulatory system. Quite often such changes are revealed by the condition of the tiny blood vessels in the back of the eye.

Location and Action
Examination by a fluoroscope will show the size, location and action of your heart. If the doctor decides he needs even more information, he might measure the tiny electrical impulses generated by your heart with the electrocardiograph.

This machine does not send electricity into the body. It merely measures and records the heart's electrical current on a moving strip of paper.

In some cases the doctor may make laboratory tests such as counting the red and white blood cells or testing the urine, to help him in his diagnosis. Even a thorough heart examination such as this is a painless procedure.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
S. B.: When is the best time for a person to brush his teeth?
Answer: It is usually best to brush one's teeth after eating so as to eliminate any food particles that may be caught between the teeth or elsewhere in the mouth. Brushing the teeth immediately after eating may help prevent the growth of bacteria which causes tooth decay.

Old-Fashioned Christmas Candy Holiday Tradition

Old-fashioned candies are part of the holiday tradition. Here are some recipes that show how easy it is to make them.

The first is for taffy.

To make one pound Coffee Taffy, combine two cups sugar, one tablespoon vinegar and one cup double-strength, freshly-made coffee in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cook without stirring until hard-ball stage is reached (268-270 degrees F.).

Remove from heat. Pour into two oiled eight-inch pans. Cool until taffy can be handled.

Remove from pan and pull with fingers until candy is firm and light. Cut in pieces with scissors.

For 1 1/4 pounds of fine Brittle, cook two cups sugar, one cup light brown sugar, 1/2 cup light corn syrup and one cup water slowly, stirring until dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring until 300 degrees F. is reached (cold water test, very brittle).

Remove from heat. Add 1/4 cup butter and 1/4 teaspoon salt, stirring only enough to mix well.

Add 1 1/4 cups 100 per cent bran and turn at once onto greased slab or greased inverted pans or baking sheets. Smooth out with spatula.

After 30 seconds, take hold of edges of candy and, lifting it slightly from slab, pull as this is possible, then break in pieces.

A batch of fudge will add extra goodness to the holiday season. This one has a delicate and delightful orange flavor.

To make it, combine two cups sugar, one cup fresh orange juice, one-third cup butter, 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar and a few grains of salt. Cook slowly to soft-ball stage (238 degrees F.).

Add 1/2 cup chopped nuts and two tablespoons grated orange rind. Cool.

Beat until smooth and creamy. Pour into well-oiled pan and cut into squares.

Incidentally, here is a suggestion when making fudge. Before cutting the confection into squares, frost it with a white sugar frosting.

Scioto Buffaloes Post Cage Win Over Ashville Five Friday Night

Coach Joe Corbett's high scoring Scioto Buffaloes edged the Ashville Broncos, 82 to 74, in a hard fought county league game at Commercial Point Friday night.

Scioto's well-balanced cagers charged to their fifth consecutive triumph before a packed gym. It marked their third straight county league conquest.

Paced by southpaw freshman Clark's scoring ability from the field and Stoers rebounding, plus accuracy at the foul line by K. Little, the Buffaloes held a 23 to 18 advantage at the end of the first stanza. They boosted their margin to 44-38 at intermission time.

Using a full court press during the entire second half, the Broncos were unable to stem the hard-driving Buffalo onslaught.

ASHVILLE launched an all-out offensive in the final period in an effort to overcome the Scioto advantage. Although the Broncos were able to reduce the margin, the Buffaloes held on to win, 82 to 74.

Six players fouled out in the fast moving tilt. They were Bob Hoover, Dick Hoover, Fullen and Miller of Ashville, and Clark and Knapp of Scioto.

Ashville outscored the winners in field goals, 31 to 27, but Scioto cashed in on their tosses at the four line, making good on 28 attempts.

The Buffalo cagers played a smooth game, making few mistakes. All five starters scored in double figures. They displayed accurate passing and ball-handling to set up many of their points.

Freshman Clark led the Buffalo attack by scoring 21 points, followed by Stoers with 18, Little with 15, all from the foul line. Knapp with 15 and Neff with 13.

Scioto's Dale Boone, who has been sidelined with a fractured leg bone, played a few minutes of the battle. He is expected to return for full duty next week.

RATHBURN of Ashville was high point man for the evening, with 22 points. He was assisted by D. Miller with 20.

Veteran Longberry's 20 points for the evening, plus 15 by Carpenter were big factors in the Jackson victory.

Carter was high man for Atlanta with 13 tallies.

New York '11' Favored To Trip Browns

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants are 10 point favorites to defeat the Cleveland Browns Sunday and clinch their first Eastern Conference crown in the National Football League since 1946.

The Giants-Browns game in New York, the Bears-Cards meeting in Chicago and the Pittsburgh-Lions circuit's six-game weekend program.

Other Sunday games pit Baltimore at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington. In today's only encounter, Green Bay will be at San Francisco.

The Giants need either a victory or a tie to wrap up the title. New York whipped the Browns 21-9 in Cleveland Oct. 14 and has shown steady improvement since, winning five, losing one with one deadlock.

Over-all, the Giants have a 7-2-1 record. The runnerup Cardinals are 6-4 and the third place Redskins are 5-4.

The Bears, trailing the pacesetter Lions by half a game in the Western Division, have been installed nine point choices to beat their intransigent opponents.

The Lions, who will meet the Bears in the final regular season game for both clubs next Sunday, are rated 12 points better than Pittsburgh.

Anthony Seeking Bout With Spieser

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony is clamoring for a light heavyweight elimination bout with Chuck Spieser today and Gordon Wallace is protesting the official count that ruled him a knockout victim in 1:34 of the first round at Madison Square Garden.

"He was on his feet at nine," said Wallace's co-manager, Harry Sheppard, after Friday night's short-lived bout.

Any protest is not likely to get much consideration for the New York State Athletic Commission already has the report of Referee Barney Felix who said, "Wallace's knee was on the floor at the count of ten."

FARM ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

The average Swiss farmer thinks his American counterpart is wealthy, wasteful and inefficient, and hires outside labor to do his work.

These are some of the impressions Harold L. Merkle, 22-year-old Van Wert youth gained from a 4-month visit to Switzerland as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate. He returned to this country last month.

The Swiss have acquired these false impressions, Merkle believes, because of America's big surpluses in agricultural production and its high level of mechanization on farms.

"The average farm in Switzerland is only about 20 acres," the youth observed, "and most of the work is done by hand. Cereals, grains and sugar beets are the most important crops."

Horses still are plentiful on farms in Switzerland, Merkle said. Tractors are expensive; so is fuel to operate them. Gasoline costs from 55 to 60 cents a gallon in Switzerland, and diesel fuel between 40 and 45 cents.

Merkle was surprised to find an Ohio corn, Ohio M 34, being grown on one of the four farms he visited. The crop was to be used for silage.

Merkle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Merkle, who operate a 126-acre farm in Van Wert County. He was graduated from the Ohio State University's College of Agriculture this year. He is interested in Extension Service or Soil Conservation Service work.

Short, dark days and longer nights mean more hours of work and play under artificial light. Give your eyes a treat by practicing these four simple rules for good lighting, says D. M. Byg, Ohio State University extension agricultural engineer.

Have plenty of light for the task you are doing.

Have lamps shaded so glare cannot hit you in the face.

Avoid sharp contrasts between dark and light areas.

Place light so you are never working in your own shadow. Think of a lightbulb as a nozzle on the end of a water hose, Byg suggests. Then "spray" the object you want to see so it gets "all wet" without any "water" splashing back in your face. The same idea holds true for good lighting.

The amount of light required varies with the task being done and can be checked with a regular photographic light meter. Some meters read directly in foot-candles while others require a conversion factor which is included with the instructions on the meter. Place the meter on the work surface to take a reading.

Tasks requiring no severe eye strain, such as reading large print of general shop work, require 10 to 20 foot-candles of light, Byg explains. Reading newspapers, books, and exacting jobs in workshops, require 20 to 50 foot-candles. Fine needlework and detailed drawing require 50 to 100 foot-candles.

One hundred foot-candles may seem like a lot of light, but it is nothing compared to bright daylight on a clear day, when there may be 10,000 foot-candles or more. Even in the shade of a tree on a sunny day, there will be between 500 and 1,000 foot-candles, the engineer says. Near a window on a bright day, there will be about 200 foot-candles of well-diffused daylight.

Light output of less than 10 foot-candles is never enough for any task other than general seeing, Byg points out.

By mid-December, agricultural agents will have in all Ohio county Extension offices the agricultural outlook for 1957. District meetings for county agents began this week for analysis of the outlook materials supplied by U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Riley Dougan, Extension economist of the Ohio State University, predicts that farmers will ask more questions about agricultural policy, compared to their former interest in commodity price trends.

Dougan bases this forecast on the farm vote in the recent national election in which price supports, soil bank, government purchases or surplus commodities were "hot" political issues.

Extension economists agree that farm income in Ohio and nationally may be a little higher than in 1956. They base this opinion on the current outlook for somewhat larger marketings of poultry products and milk, on higher prices for a smaller marketing of hogs and for continued strong demand in U. S. markets and an export demand at least as good as 1956.

Dougan told county agents: "American agricultural policy is not fixed. Congress probably will debate the farm question less after the election than they did in 1956."

"But the level of government price supports, the question of acreage controls, our export trade will continue to enter into the political discussion at Washington."

"Farmers need to know the economic effects of various legislative proposals affecting their business. County agents will have the latest thinking of agricultural economists on the commodity outlook and on the broader field of agricultural policy."

"We think it would be wise for

2 Pearl Harbor Day Pilots Recall How Japs Hit Philippines

DAYTON (AP)—Two of the only three pilots who were able to get into the air when the Japanese struck Clark Field in the Philippines 15 years ago, were reminiscing here Friday about Pearl Harbor day.

They are Col. Randall D. Keator of the Wright Air Development Center and Lt. Col. Edwin B. Gilmore of the Air Research and Development Command.

Keator and Gilmore said word of the attack on Pearl Harbor reached Clark Field just before some 50 Japanese bombers roared in. They made a "panic takeoff."

They looked back to see planes going up in pieces and spotted the big red bull insignia of the Zeros in time to engage in a dogfight.

Keator and Gilmore got the two first Zeros of the war.

Trainman's Injuries Almost Not There

DAYTON (AP)—The train almost missed brakeman Chalmers Sexton, but from the bundle of bandages around his left arm, doctors couldn't be certain.

Informed the 29-year-old railroader was being brought in with an arm mangled by the wheels of a train, Miami Valley Hospital prepared for an amputation.

When the emergency bandages applied by Sexton's co-workers were removed however, only the extreme tips of two fingers showed damage.

Sexton may lose a fingernail.

Mortgage Deed Is Contract To Repay Money Borrowed

The Joe Browns, father, mother and two children, have been apartment-dwellers for six years. Joe has a steady job, could afford to pay more rent, but his wife wants a home of their own.

Joe's neighbor — when he moved away into a new home asked Joe: "Why don't you come with us, put in your savings and buy a place like ours on a mortgage?"

"It sounds fine," said Joe, "but what am I getting into when I sign up on a mortgage?"

In buying a home, most people have a limited amount of cash to make a down payment. Often they can buy only by borrowing the rest of the purchase price and giving a mortgage to the lender of the money.

This does not mean that the owner of the property disposes of his ownership. By signing the "mortgage deed" and a note which promises to repay the amount borrowed, he is making a form of contract agreement. It provides that if the borrower does not live up to his end of the bargain, the lender can through the mortgage reach the property itself to enforce the repayment of the money lent.

WHAT ARE the obligations or liabilities on Joe if he decides to buy on a mortgage?

The mortgage deed and note together form the contract. If Joe must borrow $10,000.00 to buy the home, he agrees to repay that amount in full over a period of years. He will also pay an additional amount as an annual interest charge for the use of the money just as on any other loan. Usually he will make payments on the loan each month—for example — $100 a month.

Some of this is credited to the original amount borrowed and some is interest. He should be sure that his earnings will allow him to pay this amount, and the lender will have satisfied himself as to this.

The mortgage also will provide that Joe will keep the property in good repair and pay the taxes, and that he will keep it insured against loss by fire or casualty in an amount at least equal to the amount of the loan. This protects the lender in case of loss by fire.

Joe will often have the right to pay off the balance of the loan at any time prior to the date it is finally due. If he does not have the right, he may be required to pay a premium for doing so, or may be refused permission to pay off.

But what if Joe for some reason fails to make the monthly payments required?

The mortgage contract gives the lender certain rights for his protection. He can bring what is called a "foreclosure" action in the courts.

HE IS likely to do so if he is sure that Joe cannot continue to make the agreed payments in the future. By bringing this action, he can force a sale of the property itself. The proceeds of such a sale will go first to satisfy any amount of the loan and interest which is outstanding and not paid.

If Joe's house sells for more than the amount of all the indebtedness on the house, Joe will get the excess. However, if it sells for less than the amount of all the indebtedness on the house, Joe is liable on the note he signed for any such deficiency.

So, if he owns other real estate, or a car, the lender can take legal action to collect the deficiency out of other property of Joe's.

If Joe is only temporarily unable to make his payments, the lender may extend the time of payment, or require him to pay only interest each month for a short period of time, until he can resume full monthly payments.

Most of the liabilities on a mortgage may be avoided if Joe borrows only what he can reasonably pay for. Many lenders usually consider this point and will only lend a certain percentage of the actual market value of the property.

County Auditors Asking Fee Boost

COLUMBUS (AP)—Auditors of two major counties have called for upward revision of fees charged by county auditors.

Auditor Joe Yoder of Stark County and Auditor John J. Carney of Cuyahoga County issued the plea at the 88th annual convention of the County Auditors Assn. here.

Their prepared arguments for the increases said fees have remained unchanged for years while county operating costs mounted. Some fees were set as early as 1915-16, they said.

Fees collected by the auditors go to the general fund of counties to help pay operating costs.

Boy Hitches Ride; It's A Long One

AKRON (AP)—A 12-year-old boy, who started for school in Sharon, Pa., but wound up in Akron by mistake after hitching a ride, was returned home by his parents Friday.

Russell Leroy Langley told police he had an hour to kill while waiting for the school bus near Sharon Thursday and decided to walk around the neighborhood. He said he suddenly realized he was lost and hitch-hiked a ride with a motorist who he thought was headed for the school bus stop.

The boy said he thought it was taking a long time to get back to the bus stop, but didn't say anything until he motorist stopped "in a big city and then I asked where we were." Akron is about 60 miles from Sharon.
